Visa requirements to travel to Sinai resorts

Citizens of several countries do not need a visa to visit the Sinai resorts of Sharm el-Sheikh, Dahab, Nuweiba, and Taba for up to 14 days. A special permission stamp is issued on arrival.

Travellers who wish to leave the Sinai resorts and visit other areas of Egypt require a visa.

Document requirements for the Egypt online visa

The only document needed to apply for the online visa is a passport from an eligible country.

The passport must be valid for at least 6 months beyond the date of arrival.

Applicants need to fill out their passport information on the application form and upload a copy of the passport photo page.

Citizens of France, Portugal, Belgium, Germany, and Italy can apply using a national ID instead of their passport.

A debit or credit card is also required to pay the Egypt eVisa fee securely online.

Information required to apply for the Egypt eVisa

Egypt eVisa applicants must complete the online form with all the required information. Basic personal information, passport data, and contact details are required, including:

Full name and date of birth

Nationality

expiry date

Date of arrival and departure

Host information (accommodation in Egypt)

Applicants must check all the information carefully before submitting the request. Any mistakes or missing details could lead to processing delays.

What are the requirements for the Egypt visa on arrival?

Passengers can avoid queuing for a visa on arrival in Egypt by applying for an eVisa.

The Egyptian eVisa is the most convenient option for most eligible visitors.

However, for people travelling to Egypt in the next few days who do not have time to apply for the eVisa, the visa on arrival is a useful option.

Travellers can get an Egypt visa on arrival from one of the kiosks at any of the airport terminals.

The visa fee must be paid in cash (credit and debit cards are not accepted).

Applicants receive a visa sticker which they present at the immigration desks to gain entry.

The visa on arrival allows visitors to stay for up to 30 days. Only single-entry visas are available on arrival.
